

2012 Yorkshire and Humber Environment Index Results

Since 1999 The Yorkshire and Humber Environment Index has been enabling organisations to measure and benchmark their environmental management and performance. The index assesses participants' strategy, integration of strategy into their operations, environmental management and their performance in reducing their negative impacts on the environment. Find out how this years participants have performed below. For further information about the Index go to www.bitc.org.uk/EnvironmentYH where you will also find a full report for each year's results. The 2012 report will be launched in August 2012.
